County's Council on Aging hosts legislative reception

The Snohomish County Council on Aging will host its annual legislative reception Aug. 13 at the Everett Station.

The reception provides an opportunity for the general public to discuss aging issues with local elected officials and candidates for office. Participants also will hear more about Snohomish County's Long Term Care & Aging services. The event runs from 5 to 6:30 p.m. and is free of charge.

Long-term care and aging services play critical roles in the quality of life that older persons, persons with disabilities and their caregivers experience. At 5:30 p.m., a brief program will explain why services like Meals on Wheels, adult daycare, and in-home care are important to older adults and their loved ones.

For more information or to reserve a space, contact Stefanie Novacek at 425-388-7019 or s.novacek@co.snohomish.wa.us.
