

Reardon unveils new playground, climbing rock at Lord Hill Regional Park

County Executive Aaron Reardon will dedicate the newly constructed playground and climbing rock at Lord Hill Regional Park on Wednesday, September 12, 2007, at 3:30 p.m.

Lord Hill Regional Park is a 1500-acre County park featuring miles of hiking and equestrian trails and access to the Snohomish River for viewing and fishing. The park is located at 12921 – 150th St. SE, Snohomish.

The new playground includes a swing set, a super nova merry-go-round and a 7-foot climbing rock. The equipment serves children in the 2-to-12 year old age range.

“The families surrounding Lord Hill Park and throughout Snohomish County will have one more reason to visit and explore this community asset,” Executive Reardon said. “We are excited to complete the latest in a series of park projects that are improving the quality of our local park system.”

The playground project is funded by the Enhanced Community Infrastructure and Development Initiative (ECIDI) launched by Executive Reardon and approved by the County Council in 2006.

The ECIDI initiative leverages the County’s improved bonding capacity and existing available construction funds to build over $50 million in needed infrastructure projects in three years — almost ten years ahead of previous schedules. The initiative is already at work delivering 46 critical infrastructure projects to neighborhoods and communities across Snohomish County.
